

Join the #NoDAPL December Global Month of Action

The movement for climate justice, indigenous rights, Earth rights, and real democracy is growing worldwide.

The tribes of the Camp of Sacred Stones are calling on allies across the world to take action EVERY DAY, starting December 1 to December 31.

For December Solidarity Actions, go to <https://nodaplsolidarity.org/> for description of actions, materials, posters, etc., and click on "Join an Action" to find an action near you or to post your action on the NoDAPL Solidarity Action Map, at https://actionnetwork.org/event_campaigns/nodapl-solidarity-week-of-action.

All you need to know about how to contact bank CEOs and to call Sheriff Departments in the Midwest to demand their withdrawal can be found at <https://nodaplsolidarity.org/> and https://actionnetwork.org/event_campaigns/nodapl-solidarity-week-of-action

SOLIDARITY ACTIONS

1. SHUT DOWN THE BANKS: The water protectors are calling for direct actions, demonstrations, and other disruptions targeting the banks behind the pipeline. In August, a group of banks agreed to lend $2.5 billion to Dakota Access. But $1.4 billion of this loan is still on hold until the Army Corps grants the final permits for the pipeline. This means that there is still time for the banks involved in this loan to cut their line of credit. Read how activists around the world are taking the #NoDAPL fight to the banks:

2. CLOSE YOUR BANK ACCOUNTS: We are also encouraging people to close their accounts with the 17 banks financing the pipeline, which include most of the large, national banks in the US, Europe, and Japan.

3. CALL SHERIFF DEPARTMENTS IN THE MIDWEST AND DEMAND THAT THEY WITHDRAW POLICE.

4. GO TO STANDING ROCK: The tribes are inviting all people of conscience to join the encampments at Standing Rock by December 5. Conditions are harsh, and only those who are ready and able should make the journey. Consult these websites for conditions at the camp and what you need to take to be safe:
