

The Cape Cod Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF) invites all to attend our International Women's Day Program:

RACIAL RECKONINGS

Via Zoom, March 8, 7:30 – 9:00 pm (EST)

Registration link: _____

Three Short Plays about racism and its consequences, presented virtually and followed by a live online conversation featuring actors Sallie Tighe and Dorothy Mains Prince with the playwrights

In "Writing Wrongs" by John Dennis Anderson, the playwright interviews a woman who may know hidden truths about a subject he's researching. This production features Dorothy Mains Prince and Anderson (as himself).

Candace Perry's "No Surrender" takes place after the statue of Robert E. Lee is removed from its pedestal, when the General stumbles into a homeless encampment and gives a history lesson. Featuring (l to r) John Dennis Anderson, John Shuman, and Patrick Riviere.

"Kinfolk" by Candace Perry takes place in a Zoom call between close and distant cousins who question what it means to be family. With (clockwise) Patrick Riviere, Cynthia Harrington and Sallie Tighe.

RACIAL RECKONINGS is an encore production of a program originally produced by Wellfleet Preservation Hall with generous grants from the Joan Patchen Fund of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF) and the Wellfleet (MA) Cultural Council. The Cape Cod Branch of WILPF is reprising the production in celebration of INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY.