Remembering Hiroshima, Imagining Peace links art and activism as we work to prevent nuclear war. We also address the consequences of nuclear energy, in light of the meltdown at the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant. Our programs are designed to reflect on the past while imagining the future by encouraging engagement and hope. We are a loose alliance of labor, peace, educational, environmental, cultural organizations and individuals. For more information on our program or to schedule an interview, please contact or email rememberinghiroshima.org

These are the plans here in Pittsburgh by Remembering Hiroshima/Imagining Peace, a local coalition of which WILPF is part.
