

Peace is / Peace is Not Campaign Member Toolkit Update January 2026

WILPF US members have been using the Peace is / Peace is Not campaign materials at protests, tabling events, with partners, and more. Members have asked for updated campaign materials linked to current news issues where the US is exerting outsized power, influence, and harm.

We have developed updated graphics focused on current news issues that align with WILPF's intersectional focus areas, and topics that WILPF issue committees monitor regularly. These can be accessed at this graphics folder. Available in color and black and white, the graphics can be printed as posters and/or posted on social media.

Featured topics in this updated toolkit include:

1. ICE
2. Environment
3. Oil and fossil fuels
4. Racial equity
5. War economy
6. Venezuela
7. Gaza and Palestine
8. Iran
9. Greenland

A series of social media posts linked to each topic are available below. There is a call to action at the end of each section; it can be incorporated into any social media post within that section.

1. ICE – IMMIGRATION & ENFORCEMENT

Peace is not a deportation pipeline

U.S. policies destabilize countries across Latin America—then ICE punishes people forced to flee those conditions. Solidarity means ending both intervention abroad and deportation at home.
#LatinAmericaSolidarity #EndUSIntervention #NoDeportations

Peace is not militarization at home

ICE operates with military equipment, tactics, and budgets—bringing war logic into our neighborhoods. Militarism doesn't stop at borders. WILPF organizes to end violence as public policy, at home and abroad.
#EndMilitarism #DisarmICE #PeaceNotForce

Peace is investing in human needs, not ICE

As ICE funding expands, communities are told there's no money for housing, healthcare, or schools. True security comes from meeting human needs – not expanding armed enforcement agencies.
#FundCareNotCages #Disarmament #HumanSecurity

Peace is not surveillance and repression

ICE's use of surveillance, data-sharing, and policing mirrors tactics used to control and repress populations globally. Militarized border regimes are part of the same system as occupation and apartheid.
#EndSurveillance #JusticeNotRepression #FeministPeace

Peace is the right to protest

From campus protests to global streets, people are demanding justice for migrants and immigrants face repression. The right to protest is a human right.

#ProtectFreeSpeech #RightToDissent #HumanRights

Peace is due process

Freedom from arbitrary detention, due process, and dignity belong to everyone—regardless of status. WILPF organizes to protect human rights at every level.

#HumanRightsForAll #AbolishICE #Justice

Peace is not death by ICE

Deaths at ICE enforcement operations and in ICE custody, family separation, and prolonged detention violate human rights. No one should be imprisoned or harmed for seeking safety.

#HumanRights #EndDetention #MigrantJustice

👉 Take action: Defend migrant rights—end detention, deportation, and family separation.

2. ENVIRONMENT

Peace is environmental justice, not cages on poisoned land

ICE detention centers are often built near toxic sites and polluting industries, harming detained people and nearby communities. Environmental justice means no cages on poisoned land.

#EnvironmentalJustice #ProtectCommunities #EndDetention

Peace is climate cooperation, not power politics

As global alliances fray and power politics return, military pollution and resource wars make the climate crisis worse. The U.S. pulling back from international climate cooperation further harms communities and the planet.

#ClimateJustice #Demilitarize #EarthDemocracy

Peace is protecting the earth, not militarism that pollutes

Military threatens ecosystems, air quality, and water systems across the region. PFAS forever chemicals have contaminated military bases and local communities. Environmental destruction is violence—against communities, future generations, and the Earth itself.

#ClimateAndPeace #Demilitarize #ProtectWater

Peace is not extraction in the name of development

From Greenland to Latin America, communities face pressure to open land to extraction in the name of “development” or “security.” Solidarity means resisting imperial resource grabs everywhere.

#GlobalSolidarity #AntilImperialism #PeoplesOverProfit

Peace is BIPOC inclusion in climate policy

Just as climate disasters disproportionately impact Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC) communities, attacks on race-based equity efforts undermine strategies that have connected environmental harm to systemic oppression. True climate justice demands equity and inclusion in climate policy.

#ClimateJustice #EquityInClimateAction #DEI

3. OIL AND FOSSIL FUELS

Peace is a just transition away from fossil fuels

Expanding oil production is framed as “national security,” but it fuels conflict and instability. Real security comes from diplomacy, demilitarization, and a just transition away from fossil fuels.

#PeaceNotOil #HumanSecurity #EndMilitarism

Peace is rejecting resource grabs

From Venezuela to the wider region, oil has long driven U.S. intervention, sanctions, and destabilization. Solidarity means rejecting resource imperialism and supporting sovereignty.

#LatinAmericaSolidarity #OilImperialism #EndSanctions

Peace is breaking the link between fossil fuels and foreign policy

Oil wealth and energy routes continue to shape violence and militarization in the Middle East. Peace requires breaking the link between fossil fuels and foreign policy.

#PeaceWithJustice #EndOilWars #Demilitarize

Peace is not oil extraction

Around the world, oil extraction is linked to land theft, repression of protest, and violence against Indigenous and frontline communities. These are human rights violations.

#HumanRights #EnergyJustice #ProtectDefenders

👉 Take action: Stop oil expansion—support a just, fossil-free transition.

4. RACIAL EQUITY

Peace is dismantling inequitable systems

Rollback of DEI programs, diversity hires, and affirmative action signals that structural racism remains unaddressed—and yet billions still flow to weapons systems that concentrate power and ignore human needs. Peace requires dismantling systems that prioritize force over equity. #EndWarEconomies #PeaceAndJustice #NoDEIRollback

Peace is an inclusive economy

State and federal moves to ban DEI in education and hiring signal a regression in worker protections at the very moment when women and workers of color are still underrepresented in leadership and pay equity data shows persistent gaps. #FollowTheMoney #InclusiveEconomy #DEIMatters

Peace is self-determination

Movements across Latin America and Black and Indigenous communities worldwide demand rights, resources, and respect. Pushing back against DEI bans, anti-race policy enforcement, and historic inequalities strengthens global solidarity. #GlobalSolidarity #AntilImperialism #EquityAndSovereignty

Peace is protecting inclusion

As courts, legislatures, and agencies constrict DEI and equity programs, defenders of human rights must push back to protect marginalized communities' access to opportunity, safety, and representation. Justice is non-negotiable.

#DefendHumanRights #InclusivePolicy #StandUpForEquity

👉 Stand up: Defend racial justice, gender equity, and inclusive democracy—at home and globally.

5. WAR ECONOMY

Peace is not profit for arms makers

Militarized foreign policy drains public resources and worsens inequality, while workers and caregivers struggle for stability at home. Feminist economic reform means an economy rooted in dignity for all—not profit for arms makers.

#EconomicJustice #FeministEconomics #WILPF

Peace is solidarity, not sanctions

From Iran to Cuba to Venezuela, the U.S. relies on sanctions to assert power—despite overwhelming evidence that they harm civilians and undermine sovereignty. Solidarity means opposing coercion everywhere.

#EndSanctions #GlobalSolidarity #AntiImperialism

Peace is not investing in private prison corporations

Private prison corporations and surveillance firms profit from ICE detention and deportation contracts. Feminist economic justice asks: who benefits from cruelty—and who pays the price?

#FollowTheMoney #EconomicJustice #EndDetention

Peace is economic policy for equality

With corporate DEI programs under federal scrutiny and legal attacks on workplace equity, economic systems are being reshaped in ways that could widen racial and gender pay gaps. Feminist economic justice demands policies that rectify, not reinforce, inequality.

#EconomicJustice #WomenMoneyDemocracy #EquityNotRollback

Peace is people over profit

As oil companies report massive profits, families struggle with high prices and shrinking public services. This isn't scarcity – it's inequality by design. Feminist economics demands people over profit.

#EconomicJustice #FollowTheMoney #WarEconomy

👉 Stand up: Stop the consolidation of money and power. Create system changes that can lead to a more equitable future.

6. VENEZUELA

Peace is not US military in Venezuela

The U.S. military's recent intervention in Venezuela — capturing its president and prompting global condemnation — shows how war and militarism are still treated as policy tools, weakening international law and peace norms. WILPF rejects force as diplomacy and stands for disarmament and peaceful solutions.

#Demilitarize #PeaceNotWar #EndWars

Peace is sovereignty, not foreign intervention

The aggressive U.S. intervention in Venezuela and its regional fallout have galvanized Latin American calls for sovereignty, peace, and respect for international law. WILPF stands in solidarity with people resisting interventionism and fighting for self-determination.

#LatinAmericaSolidarity #Sovereignty #AntiImperialism

Peace is international collaboration, not instability

As Mexico becomes a crucial fuel supplier to Cuba amid Venezuelan instability, regional solidarity is more vital than ever. Coercive sanctions and military pressure create humanitarian crises — especially for the most vulnerable.

#CubaSolidarity #SanctionsHarm #PeopleOverPolitics

Peace is protecting human rights, not rollbacks

From international law violations in Venezuela to rights rollbacks at home — including policing and immigration enforcement — people’s dignity and freedoms are under attack. Protecting human rights is peace work.

#HumanRights #Justice #Dignity

👉 Take action: Stand in solidarity with the people of Venezuela—oppose U.S. intervention and sanctions.

7. GAZA AND PALESTINE

Peace is not weapons transfers

As civilian casualties in Gaza continue to dominate headlines, the role of weapons transfers can't be ignored. WILPF demands an end to arms shipments that fuel mass harm and violations of international law. Disarmament is a path to life.

#Disarmament #EndArmsTransfers #PeaceNotWar

Peace is not a war economy

While Gaza's infrastructure is destroyed, billions flow to weapons manufacturers. War economies concentrate wealth and deepen injustice. Feminist economics asks: who profits—and who pays?

#EconomicJustice #WarEconomy #MoneyAndDemocracy

Peace is not environmental destruction in Gaza

Bombardment, rubble, toxic debris, and blocked aid devastate Gaza's land, water, and air. Environmental harm is violence against communities and future generations.

#EarthJustice #EnvironmentalViolence #ProtectWater

Peace is naming harm to end it

WILPF refuses silence on Gaza and Palestine. Occupation, apartheid, and mass civilian harm must be named to be ended. Peace without justice is not peace.

#JusticeForGaza #FreePalestine #FeministPeace

Peace is community decision making

In Gaza and across the Occupied Territories of Palestine, communities are affected by decisions made without their consent. Justice means accountability, human rights, and dignity across all regions.

#JusticeEverywhere #FeministPeace #WILPF

👉 Take action now: Demand a permanent ceasefire, humanitarian access, and accountability under international law.

8. IRAN

Peace is not weapons of mass destruction

Iran's nuclear program dominates headlines, but nuclear weapons—anywhere—put all of us at risk. Real security comes from international law, arms control, and investment in people, not weapons of mass destruction.

#AbolishNukes #HumanSecurity #PeaceMovement

Peace is the right to protest

From campus protests to global streets, people are demanding justice and opposing repression. The right to protest is a human right.

#ProtectFreeSpeech #RightToDissent #HumanRights

Peace is a political choice, not a war economy

From sanctions to weapons contracts, conflict with Iran enriches defense industries while draining public resources. Money for war is a political choice—and so is investing in dignity, care, and democracy.

#WarEconomy #MoneyAndDemocracy #PeopleOverProfit

Peace is not U.S. militarization of the Middle East

Escalating conflict involving Iran is deeply tied to U.S. militarization of the Middle East.

Weapons, alliances, and impunity fuel humanitarian crises across the region—from Gaza to Iran to beyond.

#MiddleEastPeace #EndUSComplicity #JusticeNotWar

9. GREENLAND/ARCTIC

Peace is not Arctic militarization

As melting ice opens new shipping routes and resource access in Greenland, great-power competition is intensifying in the Arctic. Militarizing a climate-fragile region won't bring security—it raises the risk of conflict.

#Disarmament #ArcticPeace #Demilitarize

Peace is security beyond weapons

Expanded military footprints in the Arctic are framed as “defense,” but real security in Greenland means climate protection, Indigenous sovereignty, and international cooperation—not arms buildups.

#HumanSecurity #PeaceNotWar #EndMilitarism

Peace is investing in community needs

As governments pour money into Arctic “security,” communities face rising costs and climate impacts. Feminist economics asks us to invest in care, infrastructure, and consent—not militarized development.

#MoneyAndDemocracy #PeopleOverProfit #JustEconomy

👉 Learn more: Oppose Arctic militarization and extraction—support Indigenous sovereignty and climate justice.
